

The Art of Communication

FastFit360 is the freedom to access information from anywhere, anytime.

FastFit360 brings a revolutionary and refreshingly simple solution to businesses large and small which want to inject speed and visibility into their global supply chains. Our core technology addresses the needs of designers, technical designers, product developers, quality assurance professionals, sourcing teams and the executive suite — anyone, anywhere who needs easy access to real-time product information by style and by vendor.

Part of the secret sauce is our e-sample® technology, which empowers our clients to keep effective communications flowing digitally (and visually!) through the sampling process, reducing the number of samples shipped back and forth.

WHERE WORKFLOW* HAPPENS.

*FastFit360 brings all the pieces and people you need together to focus on what matters most.

Detailed Design

FastFit360 helps fight daily challenges by providing an Online communication tool. Whether your challenged with getting heavy AI or PSD files to partners overseas or desperately want to share an inspirational product with your team, Now design review can be presented without people having to get on planes. Reduce travel & shipping.

Technical Communications

FastFit360 takes video and cuts it into frames so that technical direction & annotations can be married to product samples. For global communications, a picture is always better than a paragraph. Whether you are trying to explain that the saddle is too narrow or the waist seam should be parallel with the floor, using images to explain corrections ensures not only speed with which the goals can be accomplished, but changes the scope of what can be achieved.

Quality Products, Quality Partnerships

The biggest challenge with quality is how it is communicated out in the field. Too often, quality inspectors lack access to the information they need. FastFit360 is an Online roundtable for brands/retailers to present issues, suppliers to give feedback and resolve questions in detail. Line review can be presented Online with participation continuing during the production process by sharing images & documents. FastFit360 is a two way street. The goal is to find problems and fix them instantly - together.
